10 April, 2008

I have known Per Molander for quite some years, and we have collaborated on several occasions. We have jointly been running a large research project on the future of the welfare state involving several researchers (see the book T.M. Andersen and P. Molander, Alternatives for Welfare Policies – Coping with Internationalization and Demographic Change, Cambridge University Press), and we have participated in a project on Sweden's fiscal framework at the Ministry of Finance, Sweden.

Per Molander has a very deep understanding of economics and is very well read in the literature. He has repeatedly shown an ability to use his profound knowledge of macroeconomics and public finance theory in specific analyses. In addition, he has extensive experience from practice which together with his very broad general knowledge adds an extra dimension to his work. This applies in particular to the issue of fiscal policy frameworks where he has both been involved in the development of the Swedish fiscal framework, and contributed important analysis of the pros and cons of this framework.

Per Molander has a very detailed knowledge and understanding of the Nordic economies and policy frameworks. He has a good working knowledge of both oral and written Danish. I give him my very best recommendation for qualified tasks in the area of public finances.

Yours sincerely
